

GENERAL MILES

And His Expedition it is Believed Landed on Puerto Rico Soil

At Two This Morning—General Shafter and Men to be Ordered Back Home as Soon as Spanish Prisoners Are Out of the Way—The Campaign Against Havana.

Special to The News.

Washington, July 25.—No word has been received at the war department from General Miles. It is confidentially believed, however, that he landed on Porto Rico soil at two o'clock this morning. He had been at sea eighty-seven hours and this would give him ample time since he started to carry out his plans. It is understood that as soon as the Spanish prisoners are out of the way at Santiago, General Shafter's command will be ordered back home, probably to Montauk Point, L. I., where they will rest and recuperate, so as to be ready for campaign again at Havana this fall. General Miles will be commander in chief, having the campaign in charge, and will start in with two trained Majors. Generals Shafter, Brooke and Lee will follow with another division and General Graham with the Camp Alger division, and the two thousand men left at Chickamauga will help to make up the grand total of one hundred and fifty thousand men.

ARMISTICE

Is to be Proposed by Spain for the Purpose of Discussing Terms of Peace.

Special to The News.

London, July 25.—It is announced in a dispatch from Madrid that the Spanish government has drawn up a message addressed to the United States government, proposing armistice for the purpose of discussing terms upon which peace can be arranged.

Washington, July 25.—Gen. Brooke is expected to sail from Newport News this afternoon. The army paymasters will sail from New York tomorrow on the Olivette to pay the troops at Santiago and then proceed to Santiago to pay the troops there. A telegram was received from Shafter saying paper or gold should be sent as the tradesmen refuse to accept silver dollars at our value but fix the rate at fifty cents on the dollar like Mexican dollars and those of South America.

SAN JUAN CABLE

Greely Has Ordered That an Effort be Made

To Grapple It—Official News From General Miles Will Likely Come From St. Thomas.

Special to The News.

Washington, D. C., July 25.—The signal officers say it is almost impossible to grapple the San Juan cable, although Greely has ordered that the effort be made. The cable is only twenty or thirty fathoms deep off San Juan, but the exact location is not known. It is more than likely that official news from General Miles will come from St. Thomas or Mole St. Nicholas, and the press reports will probably be several hours late.

Spaniards at San Juan Will Resist.

ST. THOMAS, D. W. L. July 25.—The Spaniards at San Juan are making extensive preparations to resist an anticipated attack upon the part of the United States warships, which are understood to be conveying the army of invasion commanded by Gen. Miles.

Sunday's Games.

CINCINNATI, July 25.—The baseball game between Cincinnati and Pittsburgh resulted as follows: Cincinnati 5, Pittsburgh 5. The game at Chicago was Chicago 3, Cleveland 2. The Louisville game was Louisville 2, St. Louis 1.

RAILROADS

Have Given Orders That They Will no Longer Carry Red Cross Supplies Free.

Special to The News.

Washington D. C., July 25.—The Trunk Lines have given notice that they will not carry Red Cross supplies free hereafter. Their reason for this action is not given.

WILL CONTEST.

Unsuccessful Bidders Bring Action to Have Contract Awarded to Transport Prisoners Set Aside.

New York, July 25.—The World says: A lawyer has been retained by the steamship companies who were unsuccessful bidders for transporting the 22,000 captured Spanish prisoners from Santiago to Spain, and will begin action Saturday to have the contract made by the government with the Compagnie Transatlantique Espanola set aside. The ground taken is that the successful bidder is a licensed corporation of a nation with whom we are at war and that according to the Spanish cortes, one-half of the receipts of every corporation doing business under the Spanish government must be surrendered to government to help defray the expenses of the war. By letting the contract to a Spanish corporation the United States government indirectly pays into the Spanish treasury an amount equal to one-half the contract stipulation. Also that the government thereby releases from blockade all the enemy's vessels to be used in the transportation from the neutral ports where they are now in shelter.

SANTIAGO CUBANS

They Resent Gen. Shafter's Attitude in Ignoring Gen. Garcia in the War.

THE LATTER'S ACTIONS APPROVED.

Many of the Cubans Favor the Scheme of a Protectorate With Eventual Annexation.

They Protest Against the Continuation of Spanish Officials in Office Appointed by Madrid, as a Matter of Principle—A Meeting Held.

Special to The News.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, July 23, via Kingston, Jamaica, July 25.—The Cubans here resent Gen. Shafter's attitude in ignoring Gen. Garcia and refusing to allow the Cuban troops to enter Santiago or to consult Gen. Garcia on the terms of the surrender of the city.

Gen. Garcia's action in withdrawing his troops into the interior, his letter to Gen. Shafter and his resignation of his command, forwarded to Gen. Gomez, are approved and applauded by all classes of natives. Gen. Garcia refused to accept a subordinate place, insisting that he was an ally. Gen. Shafter's answer saying that this was a war between the United States and Spain irrespective of Cuba's individual interest, and President McKinley's instructions with reference to the administration of the surrendered district, published yesterday are interpreted as a tacit avowal of American intention to annex the island and not to grant independence.

This is opposed by the Cubans. Senor Joaquin Castillo, president of the San Carlos Cuban club, and a brother of Gen. Castillo, urges an official protest to President McKinley without delay saying "silence now would indicate our consent to the American attitude which is a plain breach of faith that the Cubans can not possibly tolerate."

A meeting was held Sunday afternoon at the San Carlos club to discuss the matter and it is probable that a protest was drawn up which will be submitted.

It is understood that many who were present at the meeting favored the scheme of a protectorate by the United States with eventual annexation after five or six years, but the protest is on a matter of principle, the main objection being the continuation in office of Spanish officials appointed by Madrid on the ground that Spaniards, as a conquered people, should not be vested with authority over Cubans, the allies and coadjutors of the United States and the representatives of a free and independent people. Such is understood to have been the tenor of the meeting.

SURRENDERED.

Spanish Troops to the Number of 8,005 and 350 Volunteers in San Luis and Palma Estriano Gave Up Their Arms.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The war department at midnight posted the following:

SANTIAGO, via Hayti, July 24.—Adjutant General of the Army, Washington:

Lieut. Miley has returned from San Luis and Palma Estriano, where he went four days ago to receive surrender of Spanish troops. The number surrendered was larger than Gen. Toral reported—8,005 Spanish troops and 350 volunteer guerrillas—gave up their arms and gave parole and have gone to work; 3,000 stands of arms were turned in loaded on ox carts and started to the railroad; Spanish troops accompanying him to San Luis and all apparently greatly delighted at prospects of returning home. They were on the verge of starvation and I have to send them rations tomorrow. If the numbers keep up as they have there will be about 24,000 to ship away—nearly 12,000 here, 3,000 from San Luis, 8,000 from Guantanamo, and over 2,000 at Sagua and Baracoa. (Signed)

SHAFER, Major General Commanding.

Like McKinley's Proclamation.

SANTIAGO, July 25.—The Spanish residents of this city like President McKinley's proclamation, and seem satisfied with their condition as subjects of the government of the United States. The work of cleaning the streets and putting the city into good sanitary condition was begun in earnest.

Tampa Troops Preparing to Go.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 25.—A Tampa special states that transports are rapidly loading and are ready to move at any time. An officer who arrived from Fernandina Saturday morning states that the general opinion is that transports will be there in a few days to take troops off.

MILES' ARMY.

It is Thought It Reached the Place of Rendezvous on Porto Rican Coast Sunday Night.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—It is said at the war department late Sunday that no news can be expected from any official source as to Gen. Miles' movements until Monday at the earliest. It is calculated that he arrived Sunday evening or Sunday night at the point on the coast of Porto Rico selected as the rendezvous for all the vessels of the expedition. Whether or not he will undertake to make a landing in advance of the arrival of the whole expedition will depend entirely upon conditions as he finds them. Should there be no Spanish force, or at least, an unconsiderable one, on the coast, the troops will be landed to relieve them from the disastrous effects of being confined closely on ship board under a tropical sun. The general has with him sufficient artillery to hold any position he may choose to occupy, supplemented as this artillery will be by the guns of his naval convoy. Meanwhile the department is making every effort to hurry along the remainder of the expedition. Some troops are now on their way from Tampa and Charleston and should reach Porto Rico by the middle of the week. Naval officials are assisting actively in getting the troops off and were engaged yesterday in sending the necessary orders to that and to the commanders of the naval auxiliary vessels which have been placed at the service of the war department. In the course of a day or two the troops brought from Chickamauga by Gen. Brooke will sail from Hampton Roads, where they have been arriving all day and are ready for the transports. There is a probability that Gen. Miles may be delayed for several days in his landing operations for lack of lighters, but several of these are now on their way and others will be hurried forward as rapidly as possible. However it may be as to his speedy landing on Porto Rico soil, it will be well along toward the end of this week before the active land campaign will be begun in Porto Rico.

CUBAN PETITION.

Sanctifying Thank the People of America For Freedom From Spanish Yoke, But Want Their Own Government.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, July 25.—The following is the text of the document: To President McKinley: "The undersigned, Cubans by birth, land owners and residents of Santiago de Cuba, representing with their families the non-combatant population that suffered for many years Spanish rule in this section of the island, wish to express their warmest thanks to the people of the United States for delivering them from the insufferable yoke of Spanish rule.

"They wish also to express their absolute confidence in the good faith and humanitarian purposes of the United States and in the pledge that the territory of Cuba is not to be conquered by the American troops for purposes of annexation. We believe and would urge that our own people are capable of fulfilling the international obligation to establish a government for the island. Cuba in the future may possibly become, in the course of a few years, part of the territory of the United States, thus increasing the comfort and happiness of this people, but now all desire a government of our own, as compensation for the sufferings and heroism of our army, and the definite establishment of the Cuban republic, with Cuban authorities, in accordance with the resolution of the United States congress.

"We hope that the present state of affairs at Santiago, where Spaniards are still the administrators of our interests, property and fate will be brief, that the city may soon be turned over to the Cubans and that our army may enter, the flag of Cuba waving triumphantly beside the American flag, as Cuban soldiers fought side by side with the Americans against the common enemy."

Miss Schley Arrives in Madrid.

MADRID, July 25.—Miss Jessie Schley, delegate from the Peace society of Paris, has arrived at Madrid with the intention, it is asserted, of interviewing members of the cabinet with a "humanitarian object."

Will Attack Havana in the Fall.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The armies of Gen. Shafter and Brooke, with Gen. Miles in command, will move upon Havana in the fall. Shafter's army will soon be moved to the United States, where they will rest until operations begin on Havana.

Car Barn Burned.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 25.—At an early hour Sunday morning the car barn of the Consolidated Traction Co., at Frankstown and Penn. avenues, was completely gutted by fire, entailing a loss of about $175,000, well covered by insurance.

CITY OF SAN JUAN.

It is Said the United States Will Land Troops on Three Sides of Puerto Rico.

THE 'CAPITAL' WILL THEN 'BE ENCIRCLED—MILES'

Expedition Will Land at Guanico, and the Second at Fajardo and the Third on the North Coast—Troops Embark.

Special to The News.

NEW YORK, July 25.—It is said here that the government intends to fit out three Porto Rican expeditions, which will land on three sides of the island and form a circle around San Juan, and that within a few weeks after landing Gen. Miles will control the entire country. The first expedition under Gen. Miles will, it is expected, land in Guanico, and will proceed to Joes. From there they will go to Ponce by rail, and from Ponce to San Juan on a road which is good in either the rainy or the dry season. The expedition commanded directly by Gen. Miles will await the Porto Rican representatives, under command of Gen. Llorens, who will join Gen. Miles at Guanico.

The next expedition will land at Fajardo, a port south of San Juan, and the third will land on one of the small places on the north coast. From here they will besiege and cut off the retreat of the Spanish forces.

In Guanico there are telegraph facilities, but not cable facilities. The cable runs from Ponce directly to San-

mas. If Gen. Miles has control of the cable in Ponce he can communicate directly with the United States via Galveston. This cable, however, has no communication with the San Juan line.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The brigade commanded by Gen. Fred Grant, consisting of the 1st and 3rd Kentucky and the 5th Illinois, was Saturday ordered to Porto Rico. It will sail from Newport News, and will leave Chickamauga as soon as railroad accommodations and transports can be secured.

CHICKAMAUGA PARK, Ga., July 25.—At general headquarters camp was struck at daylight Saturday morning. The signal and hospital corps immediately marched to Rossville to take the train for Newport News, en route to Porto Rico. The signal corps, commanded by Maj. Glassford, in Company 4, includes men from every state, Mexico and Canada. Many of the regulars who have been to Cuba will accompany Maj. Glassford's command.

JUDGE MOONEY

Presiding in the Common Pleas Court To-Day.

City of Lima vs. J. R. Churchill Was Heard To-Day—Real Estate Transfers—Court Gossip.

Judge Mooney, of St. Marys, arrived in this city to-day from his home and opened court here this afternoon. The case of the City of Lima vs. J. R. Churchill was the first on the docket, and consequently, occupied the time and attention of the court to-day. The case is one for the condemnation of certain lands by the city, the intention being to open up a street through certain land in the southern part of the city.

A BLAZE.

Fire Department Called Out to Quench a Grass Fire South of Town.

Yesterday morning an alarm was rung in from the D. & M. railroad yards to which the department responded quickly.

The fire was in some dry grass which it is supposed had become ignited by a spark from a passing engine. The blaze was not serious at any time, and the department was only called out to keep it from spreading. The fire was extinguished very quickly. No damage worth mentioning was done.

BATTLESHIP TEXAS

Has Been Ordered to Newport For Repair.

Special to The News. Washington, D. C., July 24.—The battleship Texas has been ordered to Newport for repairs.

WAS KNOCKED OUT.

Rise Roberts Takes a Tumble From a Street Car on East Market.

Rise Roberts fell from an east bound street car on Market street Saturday evening in front of the Harrod house, and when picked up was insensible. He struck on his head which was badly cut and bruised, but otherwise he was not hurt. After receiving the attention of a physician, the injured man was removed to his boarding house at the corner of Market and Union streets.

GENERAL KING,

It is Understood, Will Command the Next Manila Expedition.

There are 255 in the Hospital at San Francisco—Less Severe in Regimental Hospitals.

Special to The News.

San Francisco, July 25.—It is understood that General Charles King will command the next Manila expedition. The sickness here is increasing. There are now 255 cases in the hospital and less severe in regimental hospitals. Dewitt C. Tucker, a private of Company L, 51st Iowa, died yesterday. His body will be taken to Council Bluffs for burial.

GLYCERINE EXPLODES.

While Being Lowered Into a Well Near Glynwood—No One Hurt.

While an oil well shooter was lowering a shell containing glycerine into a well near Glynwood through some mishap the stuff exploded when about 60 feet down. It is reported that no one was injured.

Lieut. Hobson Returns to New York.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Lieut. Hobson, of Merrimac fame, returned to New York from Washington Saturday morning with authority to contract with the Merritt Wrecking Co. here for raising the Spanish ships Colon and Teresa. He proceeded to the company's office immediately upon his arrival and expects to conclude the contract without delay. Hobson realizes that to save the Spanish ships for our navy quick action is necessary.

Capt. Knox Promoted.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The president has directed the appointment of Capt. Knox, who figured so gallantly in the engagement at Santiago and was badly wounded there, to be major and inspector general. Capt. Knox is now confined by his injuries at Fort Hamilton hospital, New York.

Sir Edward Grey, a Distinguished British Parliamentarian.

He May Be Chosen to Lead the Liberal Party—Inherits Political Instincts and Great Talent from His Grandfather.

Who is to be the future leader of the liberal party in the house of commons? Does he sit on the front bench, or is he hiding his time on a back seat? If there is a mute Gladstone in the shadow of the side gallery his existence is unsuspected. No man of genius or of great political capacity has been revealed among the new members of the present parliament. The prospects of the "old gang" continue, therefore, to be discussed, though their merits fail to excite enthusiasm in any quarter. Sir William Harcourt is aging fast. He takes little part in the platform battle, and his leadership of the opposition lacks spirit. Mr. John Morley, who is Sir William Harcourt's most confidential colleague, and who acts for the leader in his absence, has fallen short of the high expectations which he excited ten or twelve years ago. His temperament is tuned to the study, not to the rough world of parliament; he is a bookman whom politicians welcome, just as they welcome Mr. Lecky or Prof. Jebb, as a distinguished outsider; his speeches, as a rule, are essays; his touch with the house is not sure, and he cannot keep pace with its rapidly changing moods, and when pressed in debate by small parliamentary points he fidgets and becomes trifling.

In the members' entrance to the house of commons, says London Sketch, have been recently placed the busts of two past leaders—Mr. W. H. Smith and Lord Randolph Churchill. The characters of these men, both popular and successful leaders, were as wide apart as the poles. If the liberals wish to be led by a statesman of the plain type of Mr. W. H. Smith, they may turn to Sir Henry Fowler or Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman. Either would make a useful pilot, if not a great captain. The corner seat below the gangway, from which Lord Randolph Churchill so often rose in fourth party days, is occupied, whenever Mr. Labouchere is absent, by Sir Charles Dilke. If Sir Charles were placed on the front bench, the liberals might be sure of well-informed, constant, energetic, courageous leadership. He is always at his post, and has immense stores of information.

The eye glancing along the front opposition bench alights on Sir Edward Grey. One would turn to look at his boyish face anywhere. It is the face of a man of intellectual power. It is believed by competent observers that he possesses the qualities of a leader, and that some day, if his ambition burns brightly enough, he may take the chief place on the green benches. Well as he has already done in office and debate, his friends anticipate he will yet do much better. There are those who say—and he is the only subordinate occupant of the front opposition bench of whom members venture to say: "Here is a future prime minister." The grandson of Sir George Grey, who was several times home secretary and the grand-nephew of Earl Grey of reform bill fame, Sir Edward, whose father was equerry to the prince of Wales, inherits political instincts and talent. He had scarcely attained his majority when he became private secretary of Sir Evelyn Baring (now Lord Cromer), and he acted in the same capacity to Mr. Childers at the time the latter was chancellor of the exchequer. Entering parliament at the age of 23 years, he made some stir at an early period of his career by his independence on the question of Irish land purchase. He was only 30, when Mr. Gladstone appointed him, in 1892, under secretary of foreign affairs. As his chief was in the house of lords, his position was important, and it became particularly delicate when Lord Rosebery succeeded to the premiership. Sir Edward Grey had to expound a policy with which it was suspected Lord Rosebery's principal colleague did not always sympathize. He did the work which then fell to his hand with courage as well as with propriety, and since he crossed the floor he has spoken with recognized authority for the opposition on foreign affairs. Although his style is restrained, his speeches are usually impressive and effective. Once he was announced to address a meeting of northern miners who were keen radicals. Instead of giving them a slashing harangue Sir Edward spoke sedately on foreign affairs, yet his manner was such that the audience listened with deep interest.

He Awoke His Mate Simply to Know Whether He Was Hungry.

While the Missouri volunteers were camped at Jefferson Barracks I witnessed a situation as closely approaching true comedy as anything I ever saw on the stage.

A fellow reporter and myself cast our fortunes for a night with a section of battery A. The section had other guests, and when we retired, clothed and booted, in the straw we swelled the number in the conical tent to 18. We were all tired, and before we were sinking to sleep had the satisfaction of hearing the tattering rain on the tent flaps; music to the ears of a weary soldier, though it means hard work on the morrow.

Toward morning the fellow whose feet I had been using for a pillow grew restless and kicked me into wakefulness.

As soon as my eyes accustomed themselves to the gloom I saw that one of the boys across the tent was awake. He lay gazing at the apex of the conical for awhile then suddenly sat up and tugged desperately at the arm of his blanket mate, calling, softly:

"Joe, O Joe."

Joe slept on until the tugs grew fiendish. When he awoke at last and yawned, and rubbed his eyes, he looked vacantly at his disturber and asked:

"What do you want, Jack?"

"Want to know if you're hungry, Joe?"

What Joe said, as he rolled over in the type-setting machine.

Waking a man up to ask him if he was hungry was a new one on me. It out-Hoyts Hoyt—W. H. James, in St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

It Is the Most Remarkable Tree on the Island of New Providence.

The most remarkable tree on the island of New Providence is without question a specimen of the silk cotton (Bombax Ceiba), situated near the post office and prison. Growing from its trunk are half a dozen buttress-like extensions, as if to make a firm footing for its great spread of branches of 116 feet. A little boy, to whom I showed a photograph of it, expressed its appearance very well when he said the spaces between the buttresses would make fine horse stalls. The pods which grow on the tree contain a soft, silky material which the natives sometimes use for stuffing pillows. There are more of these trees, but none so large or old as this one, and we heard no estimate of its age. It is a near relative of the monkey-tamarind. Between this Bombax and the library is an avenue of Spanish laurel, a member of the fig family—antidote and inelegant trees, with a growth of roots hanging from their branches which never reach the ground. We saw in the hospital grounds a specimen of the same family, which is called the wild fig. About three miles from Nassau is another species of fig, erroneously called Ficus indica, or banyan tree of India. It has the same habit of growth as the banyan, sending down fibers which sink into the soil. These fibers take root, and in time become parent trunks, shooting out new branches, which in time suspend their roots, and these, swelling into trunks, produce still other branches. All these trees bear fruit, but the figs are small and unfit for eating.—E. G. Cummings, in Popular Science Monthly.

How the National Emblem of Spain Was Derived.

The Spanish royal standard is most complicated. The red and yellow of the Spanish flag is said to be derived from this occurrence: In 1378 Charles the Bold dipped his fingers in the blood of Geoffrey, Count of Barcelona, and drew them down the count's golden shield, in token of his appreciation of the latter's bravery. The shield, so marked, became the arms of Barcelona, which became part of Arragon, and its arms were taken by that kingdom.

Now to the royal standard: In the first quarter, or upper left-hand part of the flag, are the arms of Leon and Castile, the lion and the castle; the second quarter is taken up, one-half by the arms of Arragon, one-half by the arms of Sicily. The upper third of the third quarter (directly under the first) shows the Austrian colors, the lower two-thirds is divided between the flag of Burgundy and the black lion of Flanders; the upper third of the fourth quarter shows the chequers, another Burgundian device, while the lower two-thirds is shared by the red eagle of Antwerp and the golden lion of Brabant, and on the top of all this are two shields, one showing the Portuguese arms, the other the French fleur-de-lis. Considerable of a flag that.—Philadelphia Times.

Serious Sickness That May Be Caused by This Article of Diet.

The latest article of diet to have its character impounded is the common bean, which Pythagoras so warmly recommended, and which is said to be the favorite food of some communities in our republic. Dr. Cipriani has just published on the subject a book which, notwithstanding its Italian name, is written in German, and of which an analysis is given in La Nature. His work, we are told, is the result of no slight study and observation, and is therefore entitled to respectful attention. He accuses the bean, which has long been thought so harmless and nourishing, of causing a malady by no means infrequent to which he gives the name fabismus. According to him, it is not the beans themselves which are poisonous, but microbes which exist in the interior of the bean. In that case we have to deal with an infectious disease.

Fabismus can be contracted in two ways; through the respiratory apparatus and through the digestive apparatus. In the first case the malady appears on inhaling the emanations from bean flowers. In the other cases it is produced by swallowing the beans themselves. The emanations from the flowers received in passing a bean field are not always poisonous, that depending upon the season and the condition of the persons who inhale them.

Fabismus appears especially when one has eaten raw beans; but even dried and cooked beans may bring on the malady. If some of the beans which have made a person ill are given to a guinea pig, the animal also becomes ill. Of course, if the cooked beans have been exposed to a heat sufficient to kill the microbes, the danger is eliminated.

Feeble persons—the neurasthenic—especially nervous women, are more disposed than others to be poisoned by bean flowers. Most of all does the poison influence those who have disordered stomachs. A first attack predisposes a second one.

The progress of the malady is rapid. In the case of respiratory fabismus it culminates at the end of from two to five hours in a violent chill, followed by a fever, a little headache, insomnia and prostration. In some cases the fever is so high that the patient is obliged to go to bed. Finally—but happily very rarely—the fever brings on a comatose state, which, in 24 hours, ends in death. In ordinary cases, the fever disappears at the end of five days, after abundant sweats.

In digestive fabismus, the progress of the malady is the same, with this difference, that the chill is accompanied by vomiting and violent pain in the stomach. The persons attacked often turn intensely yellow. As in the preceding case, the illness may end in death, but that is the exception. In general, the symptoms disappear one after the other in about four days. In both cases the spleen is enlarged and the sick people are very anemic.—Literary Digest.

Success Attended Him to the Very Last Days of His Life.

No artist ever had so prosperous a career as Titian. Success attended him from the first, and during his 59 years no cloud dimmed the brightness of his horizon. To the end of that marvelous age he retained all his faculties, producing masterpieces to the last, and dying finally of the plague, a hale, hearty old man. The princes and potentates of the earth chose him to leave their image to posterity, and it was the monarch of Austria and Germany, of Spain and the Indies upon whose vast dominions the sun never set, who picked up the brush that he had dropped, saying that a Titian was worthy to be served by an emperor.

As a colorist and as an exponent of the wholesome, strong beauty of this world he remains forever without a rival. Some critics abuse him because he has not the religious fervor of Fra Angelico, the divine purity and elevation of Raphael. But it is well that it is so. He could not have improved upon them in their sphere, while in his own he is the undisputed master, revealing to us the beauty of terrestrial things, particularly the loveliness of women, as no one else has done. It is an art that appeals chiefly to the mind and the senses and but little of the soul; but there is nothing morbid about it. It is as healthy as it is beautiful, and only the narrowest minds can blame him because he painted so well the loveliness of the world in which we live.—Sewanee Review.

Up to the end of 1897 Russia had expended within a fraction of $200,000,000 on her great Siberian railway. Between this and 1900 an outlay of another hundred million is expected, when the road will be in running order, with through trains from St. Petersburg to the Pacific, opening one of the most important commercial channels in the world and a new and spacious page in Russian political and commercial history.

Methods Adopted for Storing Them in the British Navy.

The British navy has not been without its Maine disaster, though, fortunately, these have been unattended by any question of foul play—and they have taught us a lesson. The last such catastrophe was in 1882, when the gunboat Bottrel was sunk and 145 lives lost through an explosion in one of her magazines.

Since that time great attention has been paid to the storing of high explosives on board all the ships of our navy. The magazines are now huge iron tanks built separately into the ship. The sides, bottom and crown of these are made of thick steel plates weighing ten pounds to the square foot. These plates are lap-jointed and strongly riveted.

Should any side or the back of a coal bunker be exposed, that side is built of plates that weigh 124 pounds to the square foot. This additional strength is in order to prevent any explosion of coal gas that may occur in the bunker from tearing open the magazine. Further, the plating is stiffened with heavy iron bars that make all parts of the surface of equal strength. Should the magazine be placed near the engine, or in any other place where there is a high temperature, it is coated with asbestos.

All the lights are in what are called "lightboxes," placed outside, the light penetrating into the magazine itself through thick glass illuminators, which are protected by gratings of brass wire. The keys of these boxes are kept by the gunner of the ship. Near them is a stock of candles ready for use in case the electric current should fail. Entrance to the magazine is from the top, but out of what is termed the handling-room. The hatch of this is in line with the crown of the magazine, and the floor of the room is lead covered.

For ventilating purposes air is pumped in at the bottom, and passes out through a specially constructed up-take, but on very dry days air is let into the magazine naturally, in order to prevent too much moisture accumulating on the cases and thus causing the powder to deteriorate. In an engagement the magazines would be kept closed down, so as to prevent the enemy's shot from entering them, and air would be pumped in, or the men working inside could live but a very few minutes. Before entering the magazine the men have to leave behind them their knives, pipes and matches, and to put on special boots that are studded with brass nails.

With the old-fashioned powder a spark caused by the friction of a nail in one's boot with the floor was sufficient to cause an explosion. Nowadays there is far less danger of accident. Many of the explosives now used will only ignite by detonation. Prismatic and pebble powders if set on fire will frizzle away like a fuse, while cordite, if handled with ordinary care, is quite harmless.

All the bays (i. e., recesses) are marked with the number of cases that are to be stowed in them, and they are provided with strong wooden uprights to prevent the cases from being thrown out of place by the motion of the ship. The doors of all the magazines open outward, so that if in a violent storm the cases broke loose they would not block the entrance. No fuses, tubes or other articles that contain their own means of ignition are ever stowed in magazines. All such articles are placed in special storerooms far away from the powder. Quick-firing ammunition cartridges for machine guns and rifles and dry gun-cotton also have their separate compartments. All magazines are fitted with a flooding arrangement, so that, should the ship catch fire, they can be at once filled with water.

There is a quarterly examination of the dry gun-cotton to ascertain whether acid is accumulating. If it is, the explosive is at once saturated with water. Wet gun-cotton, being a very safe material, is kept in an ordinary storeroom, and is weighed periodically to detect deterioration, a plug being at the same time removed in order that gas may escape. The "warheads" of the Whitehead torpedoes, being filled with wet gun-cotton, are stowed by themselves and tested in the manner just described. But the "pistols" which contain dry gun-cotton, and the detonators for igniting the wet gun-cotton in the torpedoes are placed together in a compartment that can be flooded if necessary.

The only other dangerous explosives carried by our warships are the filled shells, which are given a place to themselves. None but the most stubborn fuses are fitted to these, unless they are at the gun and ready to be fired. Their dangerous nature is indicated by their red-painted heads and the broad red band around them. Seamen are trained to handle them with the utmost care. Even signal lights and rockets are kept carefully out of the way of irresponsible persons. In fact, every possible precaution is taken to prevent an accident with explosives occurring on any of our warships.—Invention.

Special Tourist Tickets via Pennsylvania Lines.

Colorado is particularly inviting as a summer haven. The climate is remarkable for its invigorating effect, and the state is rich in grand scenery and points of interest where a vacation may be pleasantly spent. Special arrangements are being made for the entertainment of visitors who are this season expected to be attracted to the seclusion and quiet of the Rockies and the hills and canyons of that great wonderland.

Colorado today is nearer home than in former years. The fast schedules of the Pennsylvania route and connecting lines bring the Centennial State within easy reach, and the cost of a trip thither is no longer a luxury. The special low rate tourist tickets over the Pennsylvania Lines places the cost for transportation within the limit of the usual allowance for vacation trips. COMPANY C

Is Included in the List of Regiments to Leave for Porto Rico This Week—General Wade Assumes Command of Camp Thomas—Medical Officers Very Busy.

A telegram from Chickamauga Saturday says: "The whole of the first corps, with the exception of the two brigades of the First Division, which are now enroute, leaves next week for Porto Rico. The regiments are as follows:

Second Ohio, Fifth Illinois, Third Wisconsin, First Kentucky, Sixteenth Pennsylvania, Second Wisconsin, Third Kentucky, Thirty-first Michigan, One Hundred and Sixtieth Indiana, First Georgia, Sixth Ohio, One Hundred and Fifty-eighth Indiana, First West Virginia, First Pennsylvania, Fourteenth Minnesota, Twelfth Minnesota, First South Carolina, Fifth Pennsylvania, Eighth Massachusetts, Twenty-first Kansas, Twelfth New York, Ninth Pennsylvania, Second Missouri and First New Hampshire.

The medical officers at Camp Thomas are unusually busy now. Orders have been issued from corps headquarters directing that the medical officers give the men a thorough course of instruction in administering to the wounded in battle. They will be instructed in first aid to the wounded and the application of medical bandages. This work has been practiced more or less over the camp, but an order has been issued directing that at least four lessons a week be given. Each man before leaving for the front is provided with a full medical case called "first aid to the wounded." It consists of bandages and medical supplies, such as are to be used in stopping the flow of blood from a bullet wound, etc.

NOTES.

Private D. W. Moore, Company F, Sixth Ohio, has gone to his home in Lima on a sixty-day furlough. He will be discharged from the service on the ground of physical disability.

The Second Ohio was out on its drill grounds all afternoon, despite a heavy rain, practicing putting the little "pup" tents. The quickest time in erecting the tents was two minutes. Nearly every afternoon General Rosser has the regiment with the balance of his brigade drilling in skirmish and battle formations, and especially, as he says, to this particular and peculiar war.

Camp Thomas was very active today, made so by the departure of General Brooke and staff, the reserve hospital and ambulance corps, the signal corps, and troops of regular cavalry and a company of regular infantry as guard for Puerto Rico. In addition to this there was much hustling among the camp cleaners, every iota of refuse being burned and every speck of dirt being cleaned away. General Wade assumed command this morning, and established his headquarters on Snodgrass Hill.

Extra Water Works Notice.

On August 1st, 1898, water will be turned off from these premises that are in arrears for water rent. The amount due the Water Works at that time will be placed on tax duplicate.

After water has been turned off, all arrears of water rent and six months' rent in advance must be paid before water will again be turned on.

"I think DeWitt's Witch Hazel

Not Reported at the War Department.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—No word has reached the department from an official source relative to the reported attack by Garcia's Cubans upon the body of Spanish soldiers who were marching into Santiago to surrender. In the absence of a reliable report on this occurrence, which, if true, may be fraught with the gravest consequences and affect immediately the attitude of the United States government toward the Cubans, there is a decided disposition to refuse to discuss the matter at the war department.

Violent Earthquake Shock.

VALPARAISO, CHILE, July 24.—A violent shock of earthquake, lasting a minute, was felt at Concepcion, capital of the Chilean province of that name, and at Talcahuano, on the Bay of Concepcion, and eight miles distant from Concepcion city. Many houses were destroyed, and the telegraph and electric light wires were severed.

The Chief Burgess of Milesburg, Pa., says DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the best pills he ever used in his family during forty years of house keeping. They cure constipation, sick headache and stomach and liver troubles. Small in size but great in results. H. F. Vortkamp, north east corner North and Main.

AMPUTATION NECESSARY.

The Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Currie the Victim.

The little daughter of General Manager Currie, of the Lima Railway Company, who, it will be remembered, while returning home with her mother from a trip to Canada, several days ago, had her left foot caught between the bumpers of a Detroit and Lima Northern train and mashed, had two toes of the injured members amputated.

IT'S COMING.

The Brotherhood of Man is Becoming More and More

Manifest, and Trades Unions Are the Primary Schools for the Inculcation of the Holy Doctrine—Notes.

It organization of the toiling masses continues at the present rate, and there is no reason why it should not, I have hopes for the American workingman. Even in Lima alone there are to-day more than three times the number of men enrolled on the list of the trades unions than there were at this time last year. And the reason for this phenomenal change is that men are beginning to see that nothing but brotherhood can save the world. I mean true practical brotherhood, for there is no use talking about it without bringing about a practical realization of this great fact in nature. Unionism is spreading everywhere, and every union of any kind that is formed among men for their protection of the weak, to promote the interests of all, is surely a step in the right direction, for it is altruism instead of individualism. The first generous, kind, unselfish, the latter is narrow, unjust, selfish and unbrotherly.

It is this intensely personal feeling of self-interest that the world must be educated out of, beyond and above it is this education that will bring about the reform that will make possible for the people to understand, appreciate, form and maintain a brotherhood of man—a co-operative commonwealth such as Christ intended and as every true reformer from His time among men has so fearlessly advocated and so grandly pictured. It is possible, it will come—yes, surely and swiftly. When this possibility is made a fact then will practical, self-sacrificing brotherhood become a possibility and also an established fact.

Notes.

Barbers Union this evening at 8 o'clock. All invited to attend.

Agitation is the marshalling of the consciences of a nation to mould its laws.

In a proper condition of society poverty should be unknown among the toiling masses.

A New York Cigar Makers Union has 1,865 members in good standing. There are several other branches in the city with large membership, but this one claims the penant.

"I further pledge myself never to wrong a brother member or see him wronged if in my power to prevent the wrong," is a portion of the obligation taken by all union men on joining a local of his craft. But how many of us, brothers, conscientiously live up to that clause? If we prove recreant we in the sight of God are perjurers.

E. C. Blanks, of Lewisville, Texas, writes that one box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve was worth $50 to him. It cured his piles of ten years standing. He advises others to try it. It also cures eczema, skin diseases and obstinate sores. H. F. Vortkamp, northeast corner Main and North.

TRESTLE FELL.

One Man Killed and Several Injured in a Sewer

Trench Near Cleveland—Pennsylvania Train No. 9 Killed a Man at Collision Yesterday—Brothers Drowned.

Special to The News:

CLEVELAND, O., July 25.—One man was killed and several were injured Sunday while at work on a sewer near Edgewater park. The men were down in the sewer trench when the trestle on which the car that hauls away the dirt is run fell. The car was precipitated to a platform covering the sewer. Adam Hausman, aged 66, was crushed to death beneath the timbers. The following were badly injured: Thomas Haeuser, aged 46, city inspector, thigh broken; Frank Sprungel, aged 35, nose broken and badly cut about the head and body; Paul Frohlich, aged 31, cut in the head and body bruised; Frank Robinson, aged 32, and Frank Soczynski, aged 30, badly cut and bruised about the body. All but one of the wounded were taken to hospitals. Up to this time nobody has been able to explain why the trestle fell. It fell without warning.

More State Bonds for War Expenses.

COLUMBUS, O., July 25.—Another issue of state bonds to pay the war expenses incurred by the state of Ohio is a probability of the future. The first issue was for $200,000 and has been practically exhausted. It is likely that the next issue will be for the same amount. The expense of Camp Bushnell during the three months of its existence has run well over $125,000, in addition to the other expenses of transportation and subsistence for rejected recruits to which the state has been put.

Water Works Men to Meet.

SPRINGFIELD, O., July 25.—Secretary West, of the Commercial club, has received word that the Central States Water Works association convention will be held here September 27-29. About two hundred delegates from some of the best cities in the country will attend. The convention will be held in the city hall and a display room will be secured in the Arcade.

Springfield Man on Her.

SPRINGFIELD, O., July 25.—Charles A. Bennett has received word from his father, J. B. Bennett, of Boston, that his family had fallen heir to $300,000 in Scotland. Mrs. Jane M. Bennett died at Glasgow the latter part of June and all of her large estate will go to seven children. Bennett resided here with his sister, Mrs. John H. Davidson, in the Bennett block.

Large Order for Electric Street Cars.

CLEVELAND, O., July 25.—The Walker Manufacturing Co., of this city, has received one of the largest single orders ever booked by that firm. The order came from Paris, and was for equipment for 500 electric street cars. This includes 1,000 motors, 1,000 controllers, 500 trolleys and other details. The order will amount in value to over $500,000.

Two Brothers Drowned.

DAYTON, O., July 25.—While playing along the river bank Sunday Harmon Nicklas, aged 8, fell into the water. His brother, Louis, aged 14, jumped in to save him, but the drowning boy clunged him with a terrible grasp and both went to the bottom and were drowned. The bodies have not yet been recovered.

New Recruit Exhausted.

WARREN, O., July 25.—To enlist in the Warren company of O. N. G., C. W. Lepper, of Bloomfield, left the hay field at Rock creek and rode to Warren, 30 miles, on his bicycle. He took his place in the ranks and had just been sworn in when he fell to the floor from exhaustion.

Received His Commission.

NELSONVILLE, O., July 25.—Henry Woodruff, ex-treasurer of Hocking county, has received official notification of his appointment as deputy internal revenue collector of the Eleventh district of Ohio. Mr. Woodruff is one of the rising republican politicians of southern Ohio.

Columbus Races.

COLUMBUS, O., July 25.—The Columbus Driving association has offered $30,000 in purses for the grand circuit races, which begin August 1. Star Pointer has been engaged to go against his own record and against the track record of 2:10 1/2.

Chief Engineer Appointed.

TOLEDO, O., July 25.—T. O. Morris has been appointed chief engineer of the Clover Leaf railroad. Mr. Morris was formerly connected with the engineering department of the Big Four, with headquarters at Indianapolis.

EXCURSION TO THE SEASHORE VIA PENNSYLVANIA LINES.

DELIGHTFUL MIDSUMMER VACATION TRIP

For details apply to $14.00 ROUND TRIP FROM LIMA.

Choice of Ten Popular Resorts.

A Delightful Midsummer Outing by the Sea.

One of the ideal vacation trips is a visit to the seashore. Persons who may have participated in that enjoyment are annually anxious to repeat the experience. To those who may not have been that fortunate, a trip in the ocean, a stroll along the sand beach, and the myriad of pleasures at the disposal of the summer idler by the sea, have a peculiar charm. The largely patronized central excursions inaugurated last season by the Pennsylvania Lines from principal points in Ohio and Indiana brought out that fact. The announcement that the Pennsylvania System will this summer again run special low rate excursions to the seashore will no doubt will be welcome information to persons who may wish to spend highly enjoyable vacations along the coast. Tuesday, July 19 and Wednesday, August 10, has been fixed as the date for this season's last general excursion to the seashore over the Pennsylvania Lines. On that date round trip tickets to ten of the most popular summer resorts along the Atlantic Coast will be sold.

The rate will be $14 from Lima. Passengers may visit either Atlantic City, Cape May, Annapolis, Avalon, Holly Beach, Ocean City, Sea Isle City, Wildwood, New Jersey, Rehoboth, Del., or Ocean City, Md.

Excursion tickets will be good returning eleven days including date of sale. Train arrangements will enable excursionists to go through without any discomfort. Sleeping Cars running through Philadelphia to Atlantic City without change via Delaware River Bridge Route will be included in the through car arrangements for these excursions, which will offer exceptional facilities for a delightful midsummer outing by the sea. The date on which they will be run is perhaps the busiest season of the year, when persons from home and business care will be convenient.

For special information about time of trains and other details, and for descriptive matter of the ten resorts to which tickets will be sold, list of hotels at each, etc., please address F. A. BATHURST, Ticket Agent, Lima, Ohio.

look the superior advantages offered by Mr. C. Sam.THE Washington Post says. "The press censor is every bit as popular as the chaparron." Well, isn't the chaparron a press censor?It is fondly hoped that Spain someday may acquire that discretion which comes to a man who goes in search of a gas leak with a lighted match.UNCLE SAM has done well in trusting to the people for his money to conduct this war. This country can furnish not only the men, but the money the guns, ships and materials of all kinds.GENERAL SHAFTER was noted for his dash and courage as an Indian fighter, but the surrender of between 22,000 and 25,000 men is, as the Paris puts it, "a very jaunty result for a campaign that has lasted less than a fortnight."

OIL

Like the Thermometer, Goes Up in Hot Weather.A Change For the Better in Local and Eastern Prices—News of Importance from the Oil Fields.There was a change for the better in the price of oil to-day and although there have been many variations during the past few days, it appeared for the most part that the market was weakening. However this idea was soon repudiated, when the prices for to-day's oil was quoted.

The price is as follows:

ness the Game at Cincinnati Yesterday.The game of base ball at Cincinnati yesterday was a fine exhibition of the national sport and was witnessed by a large crowd of local enthusiasts. It was to have been a double header, but owing to rain but one game was played, Cincinnati winning from Pittsburg by a score of six to five.The game of ball Wednesday be-

JUSTICE COURT.

Judge Atmur Disposes of a Few Cases To-day.The case of assault and battery, in which F. R. Mason was the plaintiff and H. S. Bowers was the defendant, was determined in Justice Atmur's court late Saturday night. The parties are farmers and live at Rockport, this county. Bowers had assaulted Mason and according to all reports, had beaten him up pretty badly. He was fined in all $25.50 which he cheerfully paid and went on his way rejoicing.The case of Jerry and Perry Bechtel and Bert Hawk charged with stealing a cow, was heard in Justice Atmur's court to-day. They were all bound over to await the action of the grand jury. Necessary bond was furnished.Get Boiled Ham at Wat-

OILDOM.

The Recent Rise and Fall in Oil Indicates How LittleWe Know of the True Causes of Advances or Their Opposites—Oil Well Shooter Talks.The oil market takes peculiar freak-to itself occasionally. A few days ago it took a jump of a couple of cents upward. Two days later it leaped an equal distance the other way, and followed it up the next day by a further slump of 2 cents east and one cent west. To understand proceedings of this kind one would necessarily have to be possessed of supreme psychological power. Or, he must be an adept in the occult science.Whenever the oil trade reaches a point in its development, where everything seems to indicate an advance of values the reverse action occurs. This simply indicates how little we know of the true causes of advances or their opposite.

OVER THE LINE

Indiana seems to be in the lead at present with good promises. So much is heard of big strikes and good everyday pumpers being found by drilling to second pay over there that the trade in Ohio is becoming somewhat agitated.George A. Smith, an oil well shooter of long experience in various fields was in Toledo as a witness in the case of Hannah Servison against the Ohio and Indiana Torpedo Company which came up in United States court. The case was to recover damages caused by an explosion of nitro-glycerine at Cygnet last fall. Smith was an expert witness in the case and in speaking of the dangerous qualities of the explosive, he said:"There is something besides the dangerous quality of the stuff that causes most of the explosions, and that is carelessness. I remember when I was working in a dynamite factory some years ago there were twenty-six men employed at the time. Of the twenty-six three were total abstainers and the others drank somewhat. Today the abstainers are living (I am one of them) and the other twenty-three are dead and all were killed by the glycerine. Of course, there is a reason for men in this business to drink. Nitro-glycerine is one of the most powerful heart stimulants known to the medical world, and after a man has been working in the fluid for some time his heart action is increased to double its normal force. After the effect of the glycerine leaves him he is subject to violent headaches, and his first thought is of some counter-irritant. For this, whiskey is most generally selected. For myself, I generally took a nap, and the effects of the glycerine soon passed off."

TRANSPORTING GLYCERINE

"The drink will make a man careless in time and this will result in an accident. Of course, they are all accidents, as there is nothing left as evidence to the contrary. The stuff requires delicate handling, as the least thing wrong will result in an explosion. In transportation by wagon, the cases in which the cans are loaded require constant scrutiny to keep them free from the leakage. All the compartments in the wagon are padded, and in the bottom of each is a pan to catch any drippings that may come from a leak. Every week these compartments must be cleaned with alkali to remove any of the explosive that may have escaped, for, should it drop to the running gear of the wagon an accident would be the result. I have come to regard the business as comparatively safe for one who gives it careful attention, but since the killing of Wilson at Cygnet, I have decided to retire this winter."Every accident has its theory, and in this one where Wilson was killed I have my own theory. I think the fluid was frozen at the time, and, by the way, frozen glycerine is twice as dangerous as thawed stock. Wilson was working in a magazine which had been abandoned by one of the companies retiring from the field, and left some of its stock in the place. The cans stood so long that some of them were eaten through by the acid, allowing the fluid to drop to the shelf, where it froze and crystallized. In picking up one of the cans he evidently broke one of the crystals, causing friction, which exploded one of the cans. In all the time wells have been shot in the Ohio field, I do not remember of one accident occurring at the well itself. All the men who have been killed met their death either in the magazine or on the road."

We are Going to Have a Sale!

A GREAT BIG SALE

A Summer Clearance Sale!

A SALE

So far reaching, so complete, so convincing in its money saving arguments that will at once appeal to the economical instinct of every buyer of Dry Goods Unfavorable weather conditions early in the season has left us overstocked with many lines of seasonable merchandise. This surplus HAS GOT TO BE MOVED. The way to move it quick is to cut prices, and cut them so deep that there'll be no mistaking the honesty of the bargains offered. We have done this—done it deliberately, with the double object in view of quickly reducing the stock, and at the same time give our buying public a benefit that they will long remember. Not a stock escapes, not an item of surplus goods but feels the keen edge of the pruner's knife.We'll throng this store with satisfied buyers during the entire period of the sale, if values count, if bargains mean anything, if determination to make this sale the biggest success of our business history can do it. Note well the news, it's well worth reading.

RAILROADS.

Fireman Marchant, of the C., H. & D., is on the sick list.

Passenger Engineer Jake LaDue, of C., H. & D. railroad, and family are spending the heated term at lake resorts.

The Lake Erie & Western railroad is hauling an immense amount of grain at the present time, consisting mostly of wheat.

Charles Keller and Frank Botkins spent Sunday at the Lewistown reservoir. What they did to the funny tribe was a plenty.

Freight Agent J. H. Upp, of the L. E. & W., and wife entertained Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Peck at the Hotel French for dinner yesterday.

Walter Brown, dispatcher in the office of the Lake Erie & Western in this city, has returned home from Frankfort, Ind., where he was called by the serious sickness of his sister.

Master Mechanic Donohue, who has had charge of the Erie shops at Meadville, Pa., will on August 1st take charge of the shops at Huntington, Ind., succeeding J. H. Hawthorn, who severs his connection with this company to take service with the Lehigh Valley.

First Vice President Haskell, of the Detroit and Lima Northern, is quoted as saying: "The St. Marys branch of single track through Wapakoneta to that terminus is progressing finely; that should be running trains over that spur by August 1. With this work complete, we will have 180 miles. As to business, we are very well satisfied; the line from Lima to Columbus is good paying property and the division taking in the Napoleon and Wauseon, O., and Marshall and Tecumseh, Mich., give good returns."

DAY BY DAY ARE PEOPLE

Dying.—Young and Old Alike Answer the Last Summons.—The Old Must Die. the Young May Die.—City Death Record.

Wm. Livermore, who for years has occupied the position of janitor at the Reece avenue school, died late Saturday afternoon at his residence 1008 St. Johns Road. The deceased was 73 years of age and has been a resident of this city for many years. He was companionless in the world, his wife having died some years since. He has been an invalid for some months but withstood the battle for existence bravely and endured his suffering like a martyr.

His death was a quiet and peaceful one and seemed like a passing from the sleep of life to the sleep of eternity.

The funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock. Interment in Woodlawn cemetery, Rev. Albright officiating.

Thomas Joseph, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Korn, died at the home of its parents to-day shortly before noon. The little fellow had been ill but a short time and was one of the many victims of cholera infantum that have succumbed to the dread complaint during the past few weeks of the heated term.

The funeral services will be held at St. Rose church to-morrow afternoon at half past two. Interment in Gethsemane.

Gertrude, the four-years-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore VonBlon residing at No. 405 east High street, died last night shortly after eight o'clock. The deceased was a bright little child, the sunshine of her home, the delight of the neighborhood. It can be truthfully said of her that earth's fairest flowers soonest fade away. She was ill but one day, having been seized by the malignant malady on Saturday last. Sunday evening the death angel came and relieved her of her suffering. Her gentle spirit was wafted to a fairer and better world. The home which was wont to be so bright, lighted up by the sunshine of her presence was enveloped in the deepest gloom to-day, the shadow is not one of a day, but will remain for years, a sorrow which refuses to be dissipated.

The funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock at the residence, Rev. Ackermann officiating. Interment in Woodlawn.

James C. Keeve, aged 60 years, died at one o'clock this morning at his late home, 403 West Spring street. The deceased has been ill for four consecutive years and while his ultimate recovery was not hoped for, the announcement of his death coming at this time, will be a surprise and a shock to the people who have known him here for the past half century.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. Services at the residence. Interment, Woodlawn.

Bob Moore, of LaFayette, Ind., says that for constipation he has found DeWitt's Little Early Risers to be perfect. They never gripe. Try them for stomach and liver troubles. H. F. Vorkamp, northeast corner of Main and North.

A SAD TRIP

To the Stone Pile in the Rear of the Jail This Morning.

SIX UNFORTUNATES DOING

Hard Time—The Police Court Record Full to Overflowing This Morning—The Record of Two Days' Doings—News From the Tombs.

Ben Grubb is a bad man ordinarily, but when he fills up on the essence of suicide and sin he is so bad that he is afraid of himself. Saturday night was a gala day in Ben's somewhat monotonous career, and he determined to make the most of the occasion. He proceeded to fill up and do the town. He succeeded in raising an old time circus rumpus, and was having a jolly good time when he fell into the arms of Officers Goebel and Smalley. They towed him to the police station. Mayor Prophet did the rest this morning, and he did it to a turn. He fined Grubb $18, which Ben paid and went on his way rejoicing.

James Phillips, arrested Saturday night by Officers Bacone, Seeds and Cretsinger, was fined $10 and costs this morning, in default of the payment of which he was sent to the stone pile.

James Leonard, plain drunk, arrested by Officer Bacone, was fined $5 and costs, in default of the payment of which he was sent to the stone pile this morning.

Ed. Clark, with a bad case of plain drunk, was arrested by Officers Seeds, Bacone and Cretsinger. He was fined $5 and costs by Mayor Prophet this morning. He was committed to the work house.

Frank Ward, drunk and disorderly, arrested by Bacone. $5 and costs. Sent to the work house.

John West, drunk and disorderly, arrested by Officers Seeds, Bacone and Cretsinger. $5 and costs. Sent to the workhouse.

Archie Baker was arrested by Sergeant Wingate yesterday afternoon, and fined $5 and costs for a plain drunk by Mayor Prophet to-day.

Frank McCoy was arrested Saturday evening by Officer Smalley in the C. & E. railroad yards. McCoy has been hanging about Big John's saloon on Vine and Main streets, and Saturday looted the room of one of the boarders. The steal was discovered immediately after it was made, and the proprietor sent for Officer Smalley at once and reported the case. Smalley started in pursuit and succeeded in arresting the fellow as stated above in the C. & E. yards. He was arraigned before Mayor Prophet and will have to await the action of the grand jury. In default of bail he was sent to the county jail.

Ed Gray, a farmer residing south of the city, was arrested by Chief Watts Saturday night for fighting. He pleaded not guilty when arraigned. He was released on bond and will have his hearing late this afternoon.

Dr. Johnson pleaded not guilty to the charge of assault and battery in Mayor Prophet's court to-day and was bound over in the sum of $100 to await the action of the grand jury. The bail was furnished and the case will probably be determined in the common pleas court.

"Bonner" at Hover Park.

This wonderful horse has been engaged for this week. The 5-act drama, the "Vendetta," will be presented to-night, and "Bonner" in connection with all new specialty artists, will fill out the week, commencing Tuesday evening. Those who have not seen "Bonner" should not fail to do so this week, for no such horse has been seen in Lima, and never will again. Secure free tickets from your merchants.

A MAIN CHANCE OF LIFE.

Some Interesting Results of a Calculation Upon the Percentage at Various Ages.

In the English Illustrated Magazine, Mr. J. Holt Schofield works out some interesting results as regards the chances of males at ages 20, 30, 40, 50, 60, 70, 80 and 90, living for ten years more. For example, as regards 1,000 men aged 20, 929 of them "live ten years more," i. e., to age 30; that is 94 per cent. live to age 30 and six per cent. do not, so the chance at age 20 to live to age 30 is not quite sixteen to one in favor of living. Similarly, 559 out of 1,000 "live 30 years more," i. e., to age 50, so that the odds in favor of a man aged 20 living to age 50 are 55 to 44, say five to four, in sporting phrase. Again, as only ten out of the 1,000 live 70 years more, i. e., to age 70, the chance of a man aged 20 attaining age 70 is only one in one hundred, or odds of ninety-nine to one against him. As to the chances for men aged 50, 779 per 1,000 live ten years more, i. e., to age 60; therefore, we may say the chance of a man aged 50 living to 60 is represented by odds of 77 to 23, or about seven to two in favor of the man aged 50 living ten years more. This chance, favorable as it is, is of course not nearly so great as the sixteen to one chance in favor of a man aged 20 living to age 30. Glancing at men aged 70 we see that only 325 per 1,000 live ten years more, i. e., to age 80; this means that 34 per 100 live the ten years and 66 per 100 do not, so the chance at age 70 of a man living to age 80 is represented by the odds of two to one against him. As for men aged 90, of 1,000 men alive at age 90, only four live to age 100. Thus at age 90, the chance of living ten years is very small, it being represented by the long odds of two hundred and forty-nine to one against the man—quite an outside chance.

A BEAUTIFUL CITY.

Such is Manila, the Central Point of Interest in the Philippine Islands.

Manila is a beautiful city, about the size of San Francisco. It is built on both sides of the River Passig, which is navigable to its source, says the San Francisco Chronicle. Old Manila lays on the left bank. Parts of the masonic stone wall, which was built around it 250 years ago, are still visible, and some of the gates survive, through which a stream of solemn friars, grinning Chinese, resplendent Spanish officials, beggars in rags, pious nuns, handsome senoras, gay native girls, mestizos in uniform, natives in breech-clouts, four-horse carriages, two-wheeled pony wagons and creaking buffalo carts pour from morning till night. The cathedral, monasteries and government offices are in old Manila; the business quarter, the foreign shipping houses, the banks, stores and custom house are in Binondo, on the other side of the river. Between the walls and the shore are the Luneta, the fashionable promenade, where the band plays and society enjoys the evening breeze, flirts under hundreds of electric lights and drives around the circle in carriages, which follow each other in slow, dignified procession. The best houses in Manila are built of stone, and are handsome residences, though there is no window glass used in their construction. Instead of glass the windows are glazed with translucent cyser shells. This is cut into squares so small that a window eight feet by four will contain 250 of them. It is found that they temper the fierce glare of the sun and soften the light.

METHODS OF DUSTING.

Mr. Glimmerton Expresses the Hope That Some Day Men Will Use Clothes as Women Do.

"Man's dusting implement is a feather duster," said Mr. Glimmerton, according to the New York Sun, "woman's is a dust cloth. There can be no doubt which is the better, but each clings to his own. But I think I see signs of a change. I saw a boy walk out of a store uptown the other morning and walk across the sidewalk to the curb and stand there and shake a dust cloth, just as a woman would shake one out of the window. I don't know where the boy got this notion, whether he made the discovery himself that, except under favorable conditions, with doors and windows open at both ends and wind blowing through, stirring up dust with a duster only serves to redistribute it, or whether there is a woman in this store who insists on dust cloths and has taught the boy the use of them.

"Maybe as the boy grows up and becomes confirmed in this way he will teach the use of the dust cloth to others, and to his children, and they will teach it to their children, and so it may finally come about in this simple manner that all men will come to use it, and that the feather duster will go."

American Gunners.

"Old Ironsides" may be called our luckiest as well as most famous battleship. In her hardest fight, that with the new British frigate Java, in 1812, she lost but nine killed and 25 wounded, though the total loss on her adversary was 161. In destroying the Guerriere, Cyrene and Levant the Constitution's casualty list was eight killed, 17 wounded, while that of the defeated vessels was 50 killed, 105 wounded. The London Times said in 1813: "The fact seems but too clearly established that the Americans have some superior mode of firing."

War News in Germany.

A paper of Bremen, Germany, recently told its readers that the Spanish fleet had bombarded Chicago.

RAGS AS THANK-OFFERINGS.

A Curious Superstitious Custom of Olden Times That Is Not Wholly Discontinued.

The singular custom of leaving rags and other worthless objects at wells has not entirely fallen into disuse, says the London Mail. The superstition in a modified form, exists in other portions of the world. A traveler in Persia found a tree with rags tied to its branches. They had been left there by the inhabitants of a province infected with plague. A tree hung with rags was found by another traveler in Africa. Crooked pins, old clothes, pebbles, shells, rusty nails, small coins and even bundles of heath were considered appropriate thank offerings at shrines in earlier days, for it was believed that the saints and apostles did not care for articles of value.

Such was the superstitious adoration of fountains that it was forbidden by the sixteenth of the canons issued in 1091, in the reign of King Edgar, and it was condemned by the canons of St. Anselm. It was also interdicted by the laws passed in the reign of King Canute. Since the reformation the practice has not been prevalent except in Ireland, where many old wells consecrated to saints and martyrs are yet made the objects of pilgrimage. There is scarcely a parish throughout the land that has not its own holy well, where, despite practical admonition, the faithful and the faithless come to pray for physical or mental relief and leave behind them a scrap of rag as an offering.

BLACK RAIN IN IRELAND.

The Emerald Isle Was Lately the Scene of an Unusual Phenomenon.

At the end of March a curious instance of a fall of black rain is recorded in Ireland, extending over an area of 30 miles in length and 16 in width. While the rain was falling, says the Meteorological Magazine, it was so dark that lamps had to be lighted, dense black clouds traveling slowly in a northeasterly direction. The coloring matter was found to be soot, which, considering the great distance from a manufacturing center, is certainly extraordinary. The soot was perfectly mixed with the moisture in these clouds and did not fall as smuts do in London, but thoroughly mixed with the rain. While the black rain was falling birds went to roost and many people were greatly alarmed by the darkness. The phenomenon is attributed to the strong winds which had blown for weeks previously, while the weather was dry, from the northeast, and which had collected the soot from manufacturing towns of the south of Scotland, and the north of England, and carried it at a very high altitude in a southwesterly direction, until they met the moisture-laden winds from the southwest, which began to blow on the day previous to the rain. Very fine sunsets were observed some days previous to the rain, similar to those which followed the eruption of Krakatoa while the volcanic dust remained suspended in lofty clouds.

THE SENSE OF HUMOR.

Labouchere Considers It the Most Precious of Gifts Bestowed Upon Mankind.

I regard the sense of humor as one of the most precious gifts that can be vouchsafed to a human being, writes Labouchere, in London Truth. He is not necessarily a better man for having it, but he is a happier one. It renders him indifferent to good or bad fortune. It enables him to enjoy his own discomfort. Blessed with this sense, he is never unduly elated or cast down. No one can ruffle his temper. No abuse disturbs his equanimity. Bores do not bore him. Humbugs do not humbug him. Solemn airs do not impose on him. Sentimental gush does not influence him. The follies of the moment have no hold on him. Titles and decorations are but childish baubles in his eyes. Prejudice does not warp his judgment. He is never in conceit or out of conceit with himself. He abhors all dogmatism. The world is a stage on which actors strut and fret for his edification and amusement, and he pursues the even current of his way, invulnerable, doing what is right and proper according to his lights, but utterly indifferent whether what he does finds approval or disapproval from others. If Hamlet had had any sense of humor he would not have been a nuisance to himself and to all surrounding him.

GRANITE CARVED BY NATURE.

Peculiar Effects Recently Observed in the Geological Structure of Newfoundland.

Extraordinary activity has been displayed recently in opening up deposits of coal, iron and copper of Newfoundland, and it is reported that the export of copper from the island during the past 12 months was one-sixth of the total output from all other parts of the world, while the prospects are that in the next 12 months a still greater tonnage will be recorded. There are, says the Philadelphia Record, some very peculiar local effects observed in the geological structure of the island of Newfoundland. There is a large granite quarry about 50 miles from St. John's, the capital, where granite has been hewn by some convulsion of nature into rectangular blocks of different sizes, so conveniently assorted that schooner loads of selected stones have been brought to St. John's and used in some of the public buildings and warehouses with little or no hand dressing by masons.

The new post office and custom house built after the great fire which practically wiped out all the business part of the town, are partly constructed of these granite stones hewn by nature.

WHY HE WAS GREAT.

Accomplishment That Brought Undying Fame to Mr. Jones.

It was in an Illinois village of about 1,500 inhabitants and two or three strangers were sitting on the hotel veranda waiting the supper bell. Presently a man dressed in working clothes came along the street and up the steps. He had just taken the only vacant chair, when the landlord came out and said:

"Ah, Mr. Jones—glad to see you—very glad. Will you step in to the bar and have a nip, and then let me introduce you to these gentlemen."

The man had his nip and his introductions, but he was not a talkative man, and after resting for a few minutes he rose up and passed down the street.

"Gentlemen, I was glad of a chance to introduce you," said the landlord. "Did you notice what a head he has on him?"

"I looked to me like a very common head under a very shabby hat," replied one of the guests.

"Great lands, but how can you say that! Why, everybody says he's got the head of a Napoleon on his body. You just ought to see him with his Sunday clothes on."

"Are you trying to make us believe he is some great man?" queried another.

"Of course he is," was the emphatic reply of the landlord. "If you took him for anything common you're way off."

"He can't be the governor of the state?"

"No, he isn't the governor."

"Nor a member of congress?"

"No."

"Perhaps he has invented a flying machine or perpetual motion?"

"He is a bigger man than that, sir."

"He don't look like a revivalist, an orator, an anarchist or an explorer."

"Bigger than all them, sir—bigger than all them," smiled the landlord.

"Then you'll have to put us on."

"Wherein does his greatness lie?"

"Gentlemen, Mr. Jones does not care for adoration, and if he happens to call again don't be too effusive in your demonstrations. I said he was a great man, and so he is. He is the sole and only man for 20 miles around who can hang a screen door or file a buck saw."

The landlord waited three long minutes for manifestations of applause, but as none came he retired and jingled the supper bell.—Philadelphia Press.

IN THE CAFE.

The Soup Was Consomme, But the Gentlemen Didn't Want It.

"Wasn't there a topple in X., Y. & Z. when the news of that wreck came in? Why, she fell off four points in as many minutes. And, I say, I was right."

The stock broker was interrupted by a voice of a dusky waiter, who sidled up and inquired:

"Any youse gemmen hab so-o-p?"

"No, no, no. Let us alone; we're talking business."

The waiter glided away, and in a moment the three men were talking shop with as much earnestness as before. Chicago wheat was being thoroughly sifted conversationally when the waiter who had disturbed them before ambled up, and with a spacious smile observed:

"Did youse gemmen want so-o-p?"

"Hang it all, no. We don't want any of your soup. Let us alone."

With a growl the three men began their conversation again, and were soon mixed up with congress, the Kansas Pacific and a wild conglomeration of quotations, when, as if by magic, the self-same waiter loomed up at their side. This time he adopted a patronizing air, and, bending down low to catch the answer, asked:

"Which one of youse gemmen was it dat wanted so-o-p?"

The conversation immediately stopped, and the eyes of the three men were directed at the waiter. One of the men pushed his hat back on his head, and looked steadily at the grinning coon.

"Look here," he said, "tell me, for God's sake, is this soup compulsory?"

The waiter's smile broadened, and, as if he were glad to give the required information, he replied:

"No, sah! It's the consommay."—Minneapolis Tribune.

A Melbourne Custom.

The Melbourne Argus describes the unusual spectacle of a funeral coming to a standstill in front of a public house. It occurred in Swanston street, Melbourne. People who stood about in the immediate vicinity wondered whether or not the landlord was dead, or whether the hearse driver was thirty or the chief mourners were concerned about the heat, and desired to slake their thirst before proceeding further on their mournful journey. All speculations were, fortunately, wrong. The cortege had come to a standstill merely that the chief mourners might read the cricket scores posted on the publican's window.

SHOTS FIRED.

Chief Watts Gives Chase to a Bad Horse Thief.

THREE SHOTS RING OUT IN

The Clear Air—A Race for Life up the P. Ft. W. & C. Tracks. Late Last Evening—Otto Stuneman, the Horse Thief, the Culprit in the Case—Hiding in the Woods.

About six weeks ago, it will be remembered by the readers of THE NEWS, Otto Stuneman, a desperate character who has figured in many escapades in and about this city, and whose latest offense was a case of horse stealing over in Indiana, has again brought himself conspicuously before the public.

Stuneman stole a horse and buggy, and a new set of harness, from a farmer named Clark at Tuxon, Ind., and disposed of the booty and escaped to this city.

A few weeks ago he was seen upon the streets and spotted by Lieutenant Burns, and was about to be taken in tow when through some inexplicable circumstance he managed to make good his escape. This is the last that has been seen of him by the local police until yesterday, yet it was known that he was in hiding somewhere about the city.

Last night Chief Watts saw Stuneman lurking about the P. Ft. W. & C. railroad yards. He watched him quietly for a time and at last saw him entering the home of Doc O'Neil, a teamster, who resides in that part of the city. The chief immediately dispatched a message to police headquarters for help, and Sergeant Wingate and Detective Ed Croy responded. It was the intention of the chief to place these officers in the rear of the house and approach it from the front himself, and thinking Stuneman would run out the back door, he would and himself in a net. The plan miscarried because Stuneman, believing he was being watched, came out of the house and started west on the railroad track.

Chief Watts was still alone and the chances for a capture were slim, he stepped for action and started in pursuit of the culprit, who by this time had seen the chief and was making tracks down the railroad. The chief ran nearly half a mile in the pursuit and during it he fired three shots, one of which he thinks took effect. Stuneman left the track after the last shot and ran at a high rate of speed through a wood, and escaped in a corn field. The chief was exhausted and disgusted but says he will get him yet, and a close watch will be kept for him in the future.

Stuneman is a desperate fellow and would kill in an instant rather than be would be captured. The police all know him and will be prepared for him.

HUMANE

Was the Service Rendered By Hoover Bros. to the Little Orphans.

Saturday the little orphans at the Children's Home, three miles west of the city, enjoyed the picnic at Hoover park. The little waifs were up early in anticipation of the happy event in store for them, and every moment the joyfully expectant little faces appeared at each window and door watching for the vehicle that was to convey them to the grounds. At last Hoover Bros. immense wagon, drawn by a powerful Norman horse team was seen coming up the driveway, and when it stopped in front of the building the happy crowd of children rushed out and commenced piling into the wagon until 85 just found standing room, and off they started for the picnic with flags flying, and joyfully ringing shouts of songs and laughter, while the American flag held a conspicuous position over the heads of the happy group.

Hoover Bros. are commended on all sides for their humane part in transferring the children to and from the grounds.

HEAVENS WEPT

Emblematic of the Universal Sorrow That Prevails

IN THE CITY—LAST SAD

Rites Over John O'Connor—Funeral Services This Morning at the St. Rose Church—Burial at Gethsemane Cemetery—Life's Story Shortly Told

The heavens wept this morning on the funeral procession of John O'Connor, as it wended its way from the St. Rose church to Gethsemane, in token of the universal sorrow that has prevailed throughout the city since the first announcement of the death of John O'Connor. Despite the inclement weather an immense procession made up of carriages of residents of the city, and hacks containing friends and relatives followed the remains to their last resting place.

The good that men do seldom lives after them is an adage as old as history. In the case of John O'Connor, the rule seems to have been repudiated and the exception prevails.

Upon the streets to-day there was an universal expression of good will and good words for the life and actions of the deceased and one expression of sorrow for the family in their bereavement.

The deceased came to Lima nearly fifty years ago and has advanced and grown with the city.

His interests have ever been identified with the best interests of Lima, and with his death the town loses one of its best and most honorable men.

The funeral services were held at the St. Rose church this morning. Rev. Father Mooney delivered an excellent discourse upon the life and virtues of the deceased. "He spoke like one having authority." The funeral procession slowly wended its way to the cemetery and liken unto the scriptural tale of old, and unto the last days of the saviour of mankind, "They left him at last at the Gethsemane."
